

Luciano Floridi

LIBRARY

 BACK TO AUTHORITIES

 BACK TO SUBJECTS

 SEARCH

BACK

HOMEPAGE

back to the TOP

Interview

- "Philosophy and Information Science" (Roma - Univ. La Sapienza, 24/11/95)

Biography

Professor Floridi is reader in Philosophy at Wolfson College, Oxford and Professor of Philosophy at St Anne's College, Oxford. He studied philosophy at "La Sapienza" in Rome and was awarded an M. Phil. and Ph.D. in Philosophy at Warwick University.

He has published numerous articles on epistemology, the transmission of texts, the history of scepticism and humanist information science. He is the editor of Iter Italicum on CD-ROM (Brill: Leiden, 1995). The Extension of the Mind - An Introduction to Information and Communication Technology for Philosophers (Rome: Armando, 1996).